Who talks of weariness in Freedom's cause,
Knows nothing of its life-sustaining power;
Who in the conflict for the right would pause,
Beneath a tyrant's rod was made to cover;
Who would show loyalty to God must be.
At all times true in man's extremity.

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.
Boston, Oct. 1, 1872.